Doctor L. W. German, of Louisville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Conrad last week.

Prof. Gus. Brown and Miss Anna Raitt are attending the Institute at Hardinsburg this week.

One of the finest crops of tobacco we have seen is on the pike. It belongs to George Carman.

Good butter, fresh butter, delivered anywhere in the city at 15 cts. a pound at Fella & Gregory's.

Miss Alma Miller left Friday for an extended visit to friends in Louisville, New Albany and Indianapolis.

Mr. J. H. Evans, of Greenville, and Mr. Leo Bell, of Louisville, are visiting their niece, Mrs. C. D. Temple.

Mr. William Beavin and wife, of near Hardinsburg, were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Robt. Polk, last week.

Miss Flora Smith, of Cannelton, Ind., who has been visiting Miss Maggie Farber, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beard, of Hardinsburg, spent last Thursday in town the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall.

Hayne's saloon was broken open Monday night and the drawer robbed of $5. Henry Basso is accused of the theft.

Mr. Courtney V. Duncan, of Louisville, spent Sunday the guest of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Duncan.

Mr. M. Lyddan, of Webster, was a passenger on the train Monday on route to Washington county to attend Mr. Grundy's sale of fine cattle. Mr. Lyddan says the corn crop in his section is suffering very much for rain and will not be anything like a full crop.

Miss Mary Allen went to Louisville Monday. From there she goes to Nelson county to spend several days visiting friends.

A little four year old child of Andy Voss, living near Weldon, died very suddenly Monday evening, with membranous croup.

Miss Jane Keith after a very pleasant visit to relatives in Owensboro, returned home last week accompanied by her brother, Samuel Keith.

In fifteen years travel over the pike to Hardinsburg we have never seen a finer corn crop along that road. It is equal to any of the river bottom crops.

Mrs. Ben Lay living near Stephensport writes us that she has three damson trees from which she has picked this season 130 gallons of damsons.

Do you want peaches, grapes or any other kind of fruit to can, leave your orders with Fella & Gregory and get your fruit any day you want it.

There will be an entertainment given at Mrs. Dr. Kurtz's, Webster, next Saturday evening for the benefit of the Methodist church at that place. Dialogues, songs, etc., will be the order of the exercise.

Mrs. W. L. Huckleby an old subscriber at Cleveland, Florida, in renewing her subscription says: "The News is really a letter from home and we could not get along without it. Glad to note the prosperity of the city of my birth".

The third kiln at the brick plant was opened yesterday and proved to be one of the most successful kilns yet burned. The brick are all thoroughly vitrified and show up splendidly.

Rev. O. J. Young commenced a series of meetings at the Tar Fork church yesterday. He will preach the funeral of Mr. J. B. Bate's little daughter next Sunday.

Miss Catherine Bowmer, Miss Nancy Murray, Messrs. W. S. Bowmer, Minor Stephens and Jesse W. Owen composed a party that went to the Falls of Rough Monday to spend a week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Green.

The finest specimen of early rose potatoes we have seen this season were sent to this office by Judge J. S. Wilkerson, of this city, and grown in his garden.

Mrs. R. R. Pierce also sent us a specimen group of very fine tomatoes, of the No. 400 variety, for which a prize is offered by the seedman for the most appropriate name. The four tomatoes sent in weighed three pounds, six ounces and a half.

Jas. W. Moorman, colored, has let the contract for a $500 dwelling to be built on his lot near the pike. He has by strict economy and hard work saved up money enough and with the aid given him by the Inter-State Building & Loan Association is able to build him a nice, comfortable home. If more of our colored men would take a lesson from Jim they would make good citizens, be of some benefit to themselves, their race and the community in which they live.

The deeds to the land for the third brick plant were all signed up Monday, and the money paid over. The City Council has granted right of way for switches and there is nothing now in the way to prevent its establishment. The deeds were made to F. P. Haygood, Irvington, who has ample capital backing him to insure a first-class plant. The plans of the company have not been made public, but enough has been given out to warrant us in saying that it will be a very valuable enterprise for this town.

The ladies of the Methodist church gave Mrs. W. C. Brandon quite a pleasant surprise at the parsonage yesterday. Quite a number of them dropped in early in the morning, each with their lunch, and the day was spent in preparing Mrs. Brandon's wardrobe for the Annual Conference. It goes without saying that there was a good deal of work done, for they had the day entirely to themselves and were not bothered by husbands, who were politely informed to stay at home. There being no men around, and as women never talk to each other they could do nothing else but work. The ladies are to be commended for their thoughtfulness in leaving their husbands at home.—A Left-over Husband.

Found Dead.

HAWESVILLE, Aug. 11.—[Special to News.]—A man by the name of W. E. Biggs, brakeman on the L. St. L. & T. railway was found dead this morning one half mile from this place by the section men. He had no bruises beyond some very severe cuts on the head. He was a new man on the road, it being his first trip. It is thought that he fell off the train. He was identified by some letters in his pockets.

Wide Awake is $2.40 a year. D. Lotthrop Company, Boston.

BURAS.

The election was very quiet here.

Little Julia Meyer spent last week in Custer.

Protracted meeting begins at the Methodist church to-night, Monday 10th. The Trustees have employed Miss Iva Board, of Custer, to teach the public school here.

In the absence of other material for talk since the election, the people here have gone to predicting the time of the new party's death.

It may be a little late in the season to organize a base ball nine, but Buras is soon to have hers. We may sometimes be behind but we get there all the same after awhile.

Tom Davis, one of our moving money-making farmers has made a fruit evaporator after plans of his own, and is drying hundreds of pounds of the finest dried fruit ever seen in this section.

Benedict Lucas informs us that he is sure to draw a pension soon while papers have already been received notifying him of back pay to the amount of $255 which he will receive in a week or two.

John R. Clark and Miss Bettie Lucas surprised everybody by quietly marrying last Thursday, the Rev. Mr. Humphrey, of West View, officiating. The happy pair have the best wishes of all their friends.

Twenty applicants for teacher's certificates were examined at Hardinsburg Friday and Saturday. Of these four received first class certificates; six, second class; five, third class; and five failed. The new law which requires as much as fifty per cent. in each branch is the barrier which keeps out the unfortunate ones.

Dr. N. C. Moseley and Granville Wilson both know how to address a house of happy Democrats when the reports get in on the first Monday night in August. May they with others whom we could mention meet us year after year at the Court House with their good things to say on the night after we have rolled up our telling Democratic majorities.

Very likely Buras has the oldest voter in the county in the person of uncle Charley Lucas who is almost a centenarian. No one knows his age, but he is certain that he is more than ninety. Twice have I seen him at Buras of late, he having ridden up on horseback. No one would suspect his great number of years, for he moves about readily and with much apparently ease.

Blood Poison

Is very liable to follow contact of the hands or face with what is known as poison ivy, especially in hot weather or if the body is perspiring freely. The trouble may subside for a time, only to appear in aggravated form when opportunity offers. The great purifying powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla thoroughly eradicate every trace of poison from the blood, as the cures it has accomplished conclusively show. It also cures scrofula, salt rheum and all other affections arising from impure or poisoned blood.

STEPHENS-PORT.

Sunday was the warmest day of this season.

Miss Emma Moseley is in Hardinsburg this week attending the institute.

Miss Georgia Hawkins and Mr. Gus. Shellman went to Hardinsburg Saturday.

Mrs. Bright, of Louisville, was the guest of Mrs. A. J. Bennett last week.

Mrs. M. Blain returned home Friday from Niagara Falls.

Mrs. A. J. Bennett and Bessie Ford went to Louisville Saturday.

Mrs. J. E. C. Kelly, of Cincinnati, who has been visiting Mrs. Wm. Pettit returned home last week.

Mr. Hugh Ditto, of Brandenburg, was in town Saturday.

Mr. Will English is in Brandenburg visiting relatives.

Mr. H. Frymire, of Preston, was in town for a day last week, guest of Miss Ada M. Hanks.

Miss Belle Haynes, of Union Star, was in town Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. E. Perryclear, of Louisville, returned home Friday.

Mr. Morph Myers, of Louisville, was in town Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. Brashear went to Louisville Friday.

Mrs. Eli Smith and daughter, Maud, went to Irvington Saturday.

Mrs. Junius McGehee, of the Lower bottom, and Mrs. Hattie Grinnell, of Brandenburg, were in this community several days last week visiting friends.

A FRIGHTFUL RUNAWAY.

A Young Lady Loses Her Life And a Young Man Crushed and Mangled With Little Hopes of His Recovery.

BRANDENBURG August 10.—From our special correspondent: A horrible accident occurred a few miles from this place Sunday. As Mr. Warren Bruner and Miss Cynthia Dugan were returning from Salem church, the horse became frightened and ran away. The young gentleman lost all control of the animal, and both occupants were thrown out with great force. Miss Dugan struck a tree and was pitched back against a stump, one of the snags of which ran into her mouth had to be prized open before she could be extricated. She lived until eight o'clock but never spoke and seemed unconscious up to the time of her death. Miss Dugan was the daughter of Mr. George Dugan, and a very attractive amiable young lady. Mr. Bruner is still in an unconscious condition at this writing (Monday), a number of physicians are in attendance and every thing possible is being done to save him. This is one of the saddest accidents that ever occurred in our county, and is universally regretted. The families and friends of the young couple have the sympathy of all in their great sorrow.

Sara Bernhardt Engagement at the Auditorium.

The Sara Bernhardt engagement at the Auditorium, will be one of the most brilliant engagements that has ever taken place there. It will be a most notable event in the dramatic line. Like all previous engagements at this great place of amusement, everything has been and is being done to make the engagement a most brilliant one. The scenery has been especially prepared for the productions of "La Tosca" and "Fedora", and beautiful beyond description, far surpassing the gorgeous productions given during the great Patti engagement of last year.

In securing this attraction, the management of the Auditorium maintains the motto of the Auditorium, "Only for Great Attractions", and certainly there can be no more brilliant attraction added to the list than Sara Bernhardt, the Queen of Tragedy, the greatest of modern actresses.

This engagement of the divine Sara, will be the only opportunity to see her, as after this tour, she returns to France, probably never to be seen again in America. Those desiring information in regard to prices etc., should write to James B. Camp, Business Manager, P. O. Box 63, Louisville, Ky.

Professional Men May Advise.

I am firmly of the opinion that there is a profitable field for development in the direction of advertising by professional men. After giving the subject a good deal of thought and weighing the objections already raised and to be anticipated I have a settled conviction that the lawyer, the doctor, the dentist, the architect or any other professional man can call to his aid the limitless power of printers' ink, and advertise in display type in the advertising columns of the newspaper or magazine to his advantage and without loss of self respect or public estimation. This question has received the attention of professional men as well as the advertising fraternity, and, with due respect to those who have discussed it, I maintain that they have failed to approach the subject from its true point of view.

I am aware that custom and a supposed unwritten law, which is fostered by the exclusive and super-dignified element of all professions, frown upon the mere mention of this subject. It does not follow that their ban of displeasure and sarcastic comments in any manner reflect upon the enterprising and independent man, who, confident of his own worth, his professional ability, moral and social equality, trampling on custom, appeals to the common sense of the public for the correctness of his acts and motives.—A. L. Teele in Printers' Ink.

A Persian Barber.

A Persian barber works in a style very different from that in vogue in this country. A typical shop was a square room, with one side open to the street. In the center was a tiny bed of flowers sunk in the floor, from the middle of which rose an octagonal stone column about three feet high.

The capital of the column formed a receptacle for the water in which the barber dipped his hand as he shaved his customer's scalp. In Persia they do not lather. The shop was very clean. In two recesses stood four vases filled with flowers, and the implements of the barber's art—scissors, razors, lancets, and mirrors, large pinners to extract teeth, branding irons to cauterize the arteries in amputating limbs, strong combs, but not a hair brush, for that implement is never used by Persians.

From the barber's girle hung a round copper water bottle, his strop, and a pouch to hold his instruments. In his bosom was a small mirror, the presentation of which to his customers is a sign that the job is finished and that the barber waits for his pay. The barber shaves the heads of his customers, dyes their beards, pulls their teeth, bleeds them and bleeds them when ailing, sets their broken bones and shampoos their bodies.—Exchange.
